Would
Necessitate Other Deliveries
If the Post Office Department goes through with the suggested increases in postage rates with respect to second class mail matter, which we believe tops at 142 per cent increase, it will simply be necessary for newspaper publishers throughout the country to find some other way to deliver their papers.

Another disturbing element in the announcement is that second class mail may not be handled or delivered on Saturdays. Why that ridiculous restriction has been suggested we don't know. Unquestionably the present postal service in this country is far inferior to what it was twenty-five, thirty or forty years ago when the first class postage rate was 2 cents on a letter and other charges were in proportion.

What the proposed new arrangement, whereby the Post Office Department will not be under a cabinet member but will be a business concern, will result in is of course to be seen. It can hardly be any worse than the present service.

The publishers of newspapers in the country have too much sense to throw away money on poor service which the Post Office Department may continue to give when they can arrange other ways of delivery, particularly within the radius of their publication.—Kinston (N.C.) Daily Free Press

The Tax Pie

A little statistical fuel for arguments over the need for federal revenue sharing with the states:

Americans paid an average of $400 in taxes to state and local governments in fiscal 1969, reports Commerce Clearing House. This was a leap of $42 over the previous year.

Per capita state-local taxes which grew heavier in every state—ranged from a low of $221 in Arkansas to a high of $576 in New York. California was a close second with $540 per person.

Total state-local tax take was $76.1 billion in fiscal 1969, up $9.14 billion over 1968 and an increase of 60 per cent over 1964. Collections in 23 states are now past the $1-billion-a-year mark.—Waynesboro (Va.) News-Virginian

Natural Gas
Rates Are Increased

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher prices for natural gas produced in the Texas Gulf Coast area have been authorized by the Federal Power Commission. The boosts ultimately will mean higher rates to consumers.

A commission spokesman said total additional cost to consumers has not yet been estimated by FPC statisticians. But he said it will run into millions of dollars.

In general, he said, consumers will begin receiving the higher bills by August.

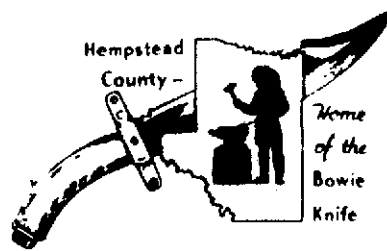

The commission said the increases, combined with some incentive provisions, are aimed at encouraging exploration for new sources of natural gas.

The Texas Gulf Coast area provides about 18 per cent of the natural gas short in interstate commerce and serves consumers in the South, Midwest and East.

In its decision, announced Thursday, the FPC said ceiling prices at 15 cents per thousand cubic feet for gas sold under contracts before 1961; 18 to 19 cents for that sold between Jan. 1, 1961 and Sept. 30, 1968; and 24 cents on sales after Oct. 1, 1968.

The effect of the rate decision is to give producers a general increase of around one to two cents per thousand cubic feet. But for gas sold since 1968, the increase would be about eight cents per thousand cubic feet.

Street Mob
'Runs Out
of Bodies'

By JOHN S. LANG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The street people faded in retreat from the nation's capital today, their design to stop the war by stopping the government frustrated but not abandoned.

The protesters had faltered against the government's overwhelming and well-prepared police and military power. Arrested by the thousands, they ran out of bodies.

But not out of breath. "This country is going to have to deal with us," vowed demonstration organizer Rennie Davis. "It's not enough to put us all in jail because we're all willing to go to jail and stay there to end the war."

The streets of Washington will see the protesters again in two months, Davis said.

In their absence, the capital today anticipated its first normal day since last Sunday, with no planned demonstrations, just controversy as usual.

It could last a day. Saturday will see a march to a different beat when the Rev. Dr. Carl McIntire leads a "March for Victory" he says will attract more demonstrators than attended a massive peace rally April 24.

But the weekend events will differ markedly in both motives and makeup from the past days. Nobody expects the mostly middle-aged and middle-class followers of the fundamentalist minister to put on the show presented by the collection of young, hairy and uniquely dressed antiwar protesters.

No Oscar for It, But Greatest Actors Are People in Business

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — You can win an Oscar in Hollywood or a Tony on Broadway, but there is no nationally recognized award for acting in an American business office.

This is a shame because if there is any real center of drama in U.S. life it is the average office, full of shabby green desks and billowy-feeling people, each desperately playing the role of his choice to the hilt.

For example, they all display the talent of a Barrymore even in getting on stage. If you just pause and see how some of the people in your own office come to work each morning, you are likely to find familiar some of the following characters in the cast:

"How do you do you do you do you do?" sing out "Mike and Ike the office drunks, as they enter arm in arm. They have had a pick-me-up already at a bar down the street. Because of the theory that there's safety in numbers, they do their drinking together. By 10 a.m., each will have stolen $5 from the petty cash drawer, and they'll be back at the bar, stool to stool, having a drink during coffee break.

The femme fatale—The boss's secretary, an antique adventure in fading mascara, writes her name ruefully in the dust on her desk. As she tugs off her gray-white gloves she notes there's a hole in another finger, sits down primly and says fatalistically, "Oh, well, one hell at a time."

Busted Ben-Jauntily whistling alternate strains of "Dixie" and "Tea for Two," the office gambler posts himself just inside the door at 8:57 a.m. and tries

Condemning Sword-
Fish Blow to Old
Whale Port, Bedford

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — The discovery of mercury in swordfish may do to that industry in the old port of New Bedford what the discovery of oil in Pennsylvania did to the port's whaling trade more than a century ago.

"I guess that just about does it for us," said Joseph J. Avila Jr. after the Food and Drug Administration said a survey of swordfish samples found 95 per cent contaminated with mercury in excess of safety guidelines of 0.5 parts per million.

Sarver Is Tapped by WR for Governor

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP) — Former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said today that former state Correction Commissioner Robert Sarver had talked to him about the possibility of running for governor.

"We were just sitting around and talking after dinner," Rockefeller said. "He brought it up."

Rockefeller lost to Gov. Dale Bumpers in the general election last Nov. 3. Sarver, a Rockefeller appointee, was fired March 29 by the state Board of Correction at the request of Bumpers.

Sarver mentioned the office of governor and some other positions, Rockefeller said. "He wanted to stay in Arkansas," Rockefeller said of Sarver.

"I have no idea where he stands in his thinking or what role he might want me to play or not play in his plans," the ex-governor said.

The former commissioner apparently could not qualify, however, for the office of the governor next year since Article VI of the state constitution provides that no person shall be elected to the office unless he shall have been a resident of

As a result of the survey, the FDA Thursday warned the public against eating the popular seafood.

The swordfishing business in New England is centered here, and Avila, his cousin, James F. Avila, and their uncle, Gilbert S. Avila, accounted for most of the 97,000 pounds of swordfish landed in New Bedford from the southern New England coastal waters last year.

The New Bedford whaling industry is being hit hard by the swordfish contamination. See CONDEMING (On Page Two)

Israel Is Tough, Fears
Oil Blockade

By LEWIS GULICK

JERUSALEM (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers took an aerial inspection tour of the Israeli side of the front lines today, including Sharm el Sheikh at the foot of the Sinai desert.

Using his presidential jetliner, Rogers sandwiched the sightseeing flight in between talks with Israeli leaders marked by brisk debate over his desire for more flexibility in Israel's demands in the peace negotiations with the Arabs.

Sharm el Sheikh commands Israel's waterway to the Red Sea, East Africa and the oil of the Persian Gulf. The Israelis say it is vital to their security and that Egypt's blockade of the adjacent Strait of Tiran caused the 1967 war. They want to keep it in any peace settlement, and the Egyptians want it back.

Rogers has not presented any specific proposals, a spokesman said. But he is known to feel that the Israelis have not been forthcoming enough in setting out proposals for negotiating.

Arriving in Tel Aviv from Cairo Thursday to complete his Middle East tour, the secretary of state went first to Jerusalem for talks with Premier Golda Meir and other Israeli policymakers.

A U.S. spokesman described the 2½-hour meeting as "a good and animated exchange." Israeli sources said Rogers asked Israel to be more flexible—and they expected he would pursue the matter at a second round of talks this afternoon before his departure Saturday.

There was speculation that Bethlehem, stung last January when it was forced by the White House to roll back a 12.5 per cent increase to 6.8 per cent, was waiting to analyze Washington's reaction to the latest round of price hikes.

Treasury Secretary John B. Connally said Thursday he was very disturbed about the price hikes. The industry and its work force "have to keep in mind whether they are pricing themselves out of the world market," Connally said.

But at the same time, Connally said he didn't believe wage and price controls were necessary at this stage.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Wednesday "the administration, the White House, is disappointed" by the price hikes.

Red Reports Progress on Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — The four power talks on Berlin moved a step further along today, the Soviet negotiator reported.

Piotr Abrassimov, the Soviet ambassador to East Germany, emerged from the Allied Control Council building in West Berlin and in reply to news-men's questions on developments replied: "One step further."

The U.S. envoy to West Germany, Kenneth Rush, declared, "We had a useful discussion."

The meeting, 19th in the series, lasted three hours. The comments of the ambassadors were the most optimistic, collectively, to emerge from a single session so far.

In Moscow, visiting French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann said Soviet officials had left him with the impression that a long-awaited agreement on Berlin "is not impossible."

Jobless
Edges Up,
Prices Rise

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The government said today unemployment edged up slightly to 6.1 per cent last month. The jobless rate for blacks soared to 10 per cent, highest since January 1964.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the figures showed "the employment situation was essentially unchanged."

The report followed one of Tuesday which showed a new increase in wholesale prices, dampening President Nixon's efforts to battle inflation.

Nixon has promised to bring over-all unemployment down to 4.5 per cent by the middle of 1972.

The April jobless rate was up one-tenth of one per cent over the 6 per cent rate for March, and was just below the nine-year high of 6.2 reached last December.

Total employment was up slightly due mainly to more farm jobs. The work week for rank and file workers edged up slightly for the second month in a row and factory overtime was unchanged.

But, after holding steady between December and March, the jobless rate for Negro workers moved up from 9.4 per cent to 10 per cent.

The BLS said this was due mainly to fewer jobs for Negro women.

The unemployment rate for whites remained 5.6 per cent. For teen-agers the rate remained essentially unchanged at 17.2 per cent.

The over-all unemployment rate of 6.1 per cent compared with a 4.7 per cent rate one year ago.

in Steel

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Three steel companies have lined up behind the industry giant, U.S. Steel Corp., in increasing prices on major products by more than 6 per cent.

Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., the nation's sixth largest producer, was the latest to announce a hike of 6½ per cent, following similar announcements Thursday by Republic and Armco Steel companies.

Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corp., another of the nation's big producers, said it was doing some "new figuring" on its price structure in light of the spreading price-hike movement.

But Bethlehem Steel Corp., the No. 2 steelmaker, seemed to be shying away from the trend.

There was speculation that Bethlehem, stung last January when it was forced by the White House to roll back a 12.5 per cent increase to 6.8 per cent, was waiting to analyze Washington's reaction to the latest round of price hikes.

Illiteracy and Lack

Americans to Hate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph M. Montoya says an increasingly embittered and militant Spanish-speaking minority may turn to "terrible violence" unless it gets political power and equal opportunity.

Montoya, the Senate's only Spanish-named member, said he repeatedly has urged his people to work within the system and to be moderate.

But, the New Mexico Democrat said in a Senate speech Thursday, the discrimination and bigotry has barely lessened, something the returning veterans of Vietnam won't tolerate.

The Spanish-American jobless rate is nearly twice that of any other group, their illiteracy rate is five times higher than Anglo-Americans, they are the target of prejudiced law enforcers in the Southwest, and alone among the minorities their television image is a totally demeaning stereotype, Montoya said.

"America continues to pay loud lip service to the aspirations of these people," he said. "Such superficial concern is surpassed only by the paucity of what our society is doing to aid them escape conditions of life afflicting so many of them. It is one of our worst national

Gift to GOP
Drastically

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The budget for the state Republican party that had been $150,000 a year during the days when Winthrop Rockefeller was governor has now dropped to $80,000.

Rockefeller's gift to party operations had been about $50,000 annually, but when he made his involuntary withdrawal from public office, he also withdrew most of his support for the Republican party organization. The ex-governor now reportedly contributes about $5,000 to the party.

Neal Sox Johnson, GOP state executive director, said that while Rockefeller has substantially reduced his financial participation in the party, he has remained the giver of the party's largest single contribution.

He said the party survives mainly on contributors who provide gifts of $25 to $150 annually.

Rockefeller's gift, in the days of plenty, amounted to about 35 per cent of the larger budget, but amounts to about 7 per cent of the smaller budget.

Johnson said Rockefeller has continued to provide other types of support for the GOP and was sending invitations to his own friends and former supporters urging their help for a June 19 GOP fund-raising dinner.

Rockefeller will be one of those honored at the event, which will be held at the Hot Springs Convention Center.

Successful fund-raising efforts apparently will be crucial to the party's development from now on, since Rockefeller had provided substantial amounts of assistance to candidates at the local level as well as helping finance the party and paying for his own campaign.

Johnson said that considerable local effort would be needed to finance the campaigns of prospective GOP candidates.

Europe Telling U.S. to Pay UP

NEW YORK (AP) — Suppose you ran your checking account as Uncle Sam runs his. You are rich and powerful but you let the bills pile up. Oh, you pay them all, but slowly, and you permit the total to grow over the years.

Your creditors demand you pay but you insist that your promise is as good as the payment—only slower.

They wonder, though, how long your deficit situation can continue. Credit should be temporary.

They know you have plenty of assets that they could demand in place of cash. They know you have a pile of gold, though a diminished one, and they toy with the notion of demanding it. But you tell them that they'll never get their hands on it. Rather ridiculously, none of you wishes to face the reality that there isn't enough gold there anyway.

You can enforce your wishes because your smaller neighbors need your business. So they don't press too hard for that gold. They don't like what is going on, but certainly don't want to lose your business, which would hurt theirs also.

What do they do? They can suggest that you increase the size of your checks, in effect, devalue money with which you pay.

This would mean that you'd have to shell out more money for the same bills.

But you are big and powerful and you insist this just won't be done. Your money is good, you maintain. You always pay your bills, if slowly. In fact, you pay some of your neighbors' bills.

Nobody is more generous than you when it comes to aiding the less fortunate, either with alms or armaments, in your own neighborhood or in the next town.

And you are confident that eventually you will have more money coming into the checking account than leaves it. You intend to do nothing other than to work toward that eventual balance.

Travelers Turned Down on Rate Hike

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Insurance Department Thursday denied a request by Travelers Indemnity Co. to increase its insurance rates on private passenger automobiles.

Travelers had requested an increase of 28.5 per cent in bodily liability coverage, 12.9 per cent in property damage liability, 10 per cent in comprehensive coverage, 9.7 per cent in $50 deductible and 13.8 per cent for $100 deductible.

Officials of the company indicated they would request a formal hearing on the department's order.

Bloodmobile Here Tuesday, Wednesday

About 25 Hempstead County people have now passed the one-gallon mark as blood donors and have been presented pins to show they have given eight pints. Luther Holloman heads the list with a three gallon pin or 24 pints over the last eight or ten years.

Haskell Jones, Red Cross Blood Chairman, says while it is good to have several faithful donors who give almost every time, it is also good to have new donors. Nearly 50 of the 139 who gave on the last visit were first time donors. 240 pints are needed to supply local hospitals and fill Hempstead County's quota at the Veterans Hospital.

This will be a two-day visit, Monday, May 10, and Tuesday, May 11, 12 noon to 6 p.m. at the Red River Vocational Technical School. You may never give a gallon, but you may save a life with one pint.

Planes Knock Out Long-Range Guns

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. fighter-bombers exchanged fire with anti-aircraft guns inside North Vietnam today and destroyed three of the long-range weapons in the 33rd strike at the North this year, the U.S. Command announced.

A spokesman, Maj. Charles Johnson, said none of the American jets was hit in the action 40 miles north of the demilitarized zone.

However, the U.S. Command reported that another Air Force F4 Phantom was shot down Thursday farther south in the Laotian panhandle while on a mission against the Ho Chi Minh trail. The two crewmen were rescued, the command said.

Johnson said the two Phantoms that made the attack today were attacking the upper portion of the Ho Chi Minh trail when they were fired on by a battery less than a mile across the border and near the Ban Karai pass, one of the major crossover points on the Communist supply route.

The jets attacked the enemy 37mm and 57mm anti-aircraft guns with bombs, rockets and 20mm cannon. Johnson said two of the 57mm guns and one 37mm were destroyed. He said the 57mm guns have a range of eight miles and the 37s a range of five miles. The U.S. air campaign against the Ho Chi Minh trail has triggered about 75 per cent of the American strikes against the North this year. The other U.S. attacks were in response to threats against American reconnaissance planes photographing North Vietnamese installations. The number of attacks in North Vietnam this year is already nearly five times the number reported in all of 1970. Hanoi, in its effort to protect its supply route to South Vietnam and Cambodia, has beefed up its anti-aircraft defenses along the border.

The U.S. Command also announced that more than a dozen U.S. Marine units totaling 3,085 men have been withdrawn from battle and are preparing to pull out of Vietnam. This part of the 100,000-man outback that will reduce the authorized strength of U.S. forces to 184,000 by next Dec. 1.

More fighting was reported in a region 25 miles northwest of Saigon, where enemy forces have become active following the withdrawal of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division.

In Saigon's suburbs, a claymore mine exploded in a Vietnamese restaurant, killing two civilians and wounding 11. Police said Vit Cong terrorists planted the mine, but escaped.

In the capital itself, a bomb scare forced evacuation of 250 American and Vietnamese employees from the Joint U.S. Public Affairs Office. It turned out to be a crank threat, the fourth at the office since October.

About 70 South Vietnamese militiamen engaged North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops in the fighting northwest of Saigon. The government troops were later reinforced and reported killing 19 enemy in day-long fighting Thursday. Seven South Vietnamese were reported killed and six wounded.

The battle was four miles east of Trang Bang, a district town in a region that North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces dominated until U.S. infantrymen from the 25th Division cut heavily into their ranks.

2 UMW Chiefs Indicted

By GARY MIHOCES
Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two key district officials of the United Mine Workers union have been convicted on federal conspiracy charges involving the diversion of UMW funds to a union election campaign.

Michael Budzanoski, president of Pittsburgh-based District 5, and Secretary-Treasurer John Seddon were found guilty Thursday of conspiring to divert $8,500 to the 1969 re-election campaign of UMW President W.A. "Tony" Boyle.

Budzanoski and Seddon would be fined $10,000 and sent to jail for a year on each of four counts. Defense counsel have until June 2 to file motions for appeal.

Government witnesses during the eight-day trial linked the conspiracy directly to Boyle. They testified that Boyle gave Budzanoski $10,000 to finance a plan to make funds available for Boyle's campaign in the 14,000-member District 5 area of western Pennsylvania.

The district is one of the largest of the UMW's 25 administrative areas. The officers of each district are answerable to the 210,000-man union's international leadership.

Five key witnesses appeared during the U.S. District Court trial before Judge Hubert I. Teitelbaum, including two former District 5 board members—on whom the government based its case—and two other former board members who denied any knowledge of a conspiracy.

The government, in rebuttal, produced a surprise witness, Leon Yablonski, brother of slain UMW leader Joseph "Jock" Yablonski who lost the 1969 union election to Boyle.

Leon Yablonski told the jury of seven women and five men of a meeting he said was held in May 1969, days after Yablonski had announced his candidacy. He said the meeting was between him, his brother and a district board member, Francis McAllister.

Yablonski said McAllister, now a member of the UMW international executive board, told them of a plot to funnel union funds into the Boyle campaign, using false expense vouchers.

dustry was at its peak when the first commercially successful oil well was drilled in Titusville, Pa., in 1859. Oil products, including kerosene for lighting, became cheaper, the whaling industry faded.

Swordfishing, likewise, seems about to vanish.

The FDA said its investigation disclosed that the long-lived swordfish accumulate dangerous amounts of mercury. In the Boston area alone, the FDA said, more than 400,000 pounds of swordfish, valued at $240,000, were seized and would be destroyed.

Mercury poisoning can cause damage to the brain, kidney and nervous system.

Most of the 26 million pounds of swordfish consumed in America last year was imported from Canada and Japan. But it's an important source of income for some U.S. fishermen.

Using specially rigged boats with long bow platforms, fishermen harpoon the swordfish as they bask in the sun in warm weather near the surface.

Joseph and Gilbert Avila own a light plane for spotting the fish during the season, June to Labor Day. Joseph said he had spent more than $1,500 in pilot fees alone and "now it's no use to us."

"It all depends who you talk to. One guy will tell you the warning doesn't mean a thing, and another guy will tell you the opposite. All I know is that nobody I know ever got sick from eating swordfish."

Industry spokesmen in California, a major source of swordfish, said some fishermen there will have to go out of business because of the warning.

In National City, Calif., Charles Olsen, 50, and Bud Sears, 55, operators of the 48-foot Invader swordfish boat, said that despite the FDA advisory, they're going out at the start of the swordfish season to make test catches.

Germany May Turn Loose Reichsmark

By PETER REHAK
Associated Press Writer

BONN, Germany (AP) — The government's committee of economic experts recommended today that the West German mark be allowed to "float" to find a new level of parity with the dollar.

Such a move should be accompanied by "domestic stabilization measures," the committee said in an assessment of the current monetary crisis and of the economic situation in West Germany.

The committee, an independent group of five economists, presented its recommendations to economic Minister Karl Schiller on Thursday.

Their report was published this morning as Chancellor Willy Brandt's Cabinet met to hammer out proposals on how to deal with the situation.

Floating of the deutschmark means placing it on the free exchange market to see how much it can bring in terms of other currencies, including the dollar. Its official rate is 27 1/3 cents. It is now selling for nearly 28 cents, or 3.58 marks to the dollar.

Up to now the mark's value on exchange markets has been restricted by international monetary agreements. Under these agreements, government banks intervene to support the currency if it fluctuates to high above or below the floor price of 27 1/3 cents.

The Bonn government, a key to the crisis because of its exceptionally strong currency, does not plan to revalue the Deutschmark unilaterally, government spokesman Conrad Ahlers reported. He said it also would not seek revaluation of the currencies of all six Common Market countries because all six would never agree on such a move.

Indications are that the West Germans instead will seek a wider fluctuation limit for the European currencies than the International Monetary Fund now permits. At present, central banks must buy or sell dollars to keep the exchange rate of their currency within three quarters of one per cent of its pegged value. Some sources say the Germans want this changed to one per cent.

Economics Minister Karl Schiller will seek joint action at a Common Market meeting in Brussels Saturday. But France and Belgium were putting up strong resistance to anything smacking of revaluation. The other members of the Common Market, or European Economic Community, are Italy, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Indications are that if the West Germans don't get their way in Brussels Saturday, Brandt's government will go ahead with its measures alone.

It could, for example, let the mark float in the world's money markets, with the Central Bank supporting it within limits set by the government rather than by the International Monetary Fund.

This would not amount to an outright revaluation but would give the Central Bank more latitude in supporting the mark and would make the currency less attractive to speculators betting on a revaluation upward.

Kate Webb of UPI Says Her Captors Had Been Brain-Washed

By DAVID J. PAINE
Associated Press Writer

HONG KONG (AP) — Correspondent Kate Webb, who was captured by Communist soldiers in Cambodia and held more than three weeks, said today most of her captors appeared to be North Vietnamese.

The North Vietnamese soldiers, she said, "have been very heavily indoctrinated ... They talk like gramophone records from Radio Hanoi ... we got on better with those from the South."

"They bring up the fact that they have been fighting for years and are still fighting ... After the walk from the North there is no future for them except fighting."

Miss Webb, 28, United Press International bureau manager in Phnom Penh, was captured

April 8 during a Communist ambush on Highway 4 and was feared dead. She was freed May 1.

Miss Webb told a news conference the Communist soldiers "carry transistors like the GIs" and tune them to Radio Hanoi. She refused to talk about certain aspects of her treatment because "there will be more journalists captured in Indochina" and this might affect them.

She said her captors asked her not to say where they had taken her and "I will not disclose where I think we were." On April 10, eight days after she disappeared, Cambodian soldiers found the body of a woman near where Miss Webb was last seen. The body was cremated on the spot, in accordance with Cambodian tradition, but Cambodians who saw it and knew Miss Webb said it was hers.

"She probably was one of the North Vietnamese woman soldiers who have very pale skins because they spend most of their daytime life in bunkers," Miss Webb said.

this state for seven years.

Sarver came to Arkansas in 1967.

Sarver revealed several days ago that he was considering running for a state-wide office, but he did not indicate what office he had in mind and gave no hint that an office as high as that of governor might figure in his thinking.

"To be perfectly honest there was no discussion of anything definitive," Rockefeller said. "We didn't come down to any nitty gritty. I think he was trying to sound me out."

"I made no commitment of support. I didn't go further than to say it was a very interesting idea."

Rockefeller said Sarver did not mention any need for financial aid from the former governor should the ex-commissioner make a political race.

Rockefeller said he was surprised when he heard Sarver mention the office of governor. "But, of course, Bob is extremely well known and I have a great deal of confidence in him," Rockefeller said. "I'm for the guy. I think he's a great guy."

"I'm glad to have him take an interest in state government," Rockefeller added.

The former governor, who served in 1966-70, was asked if there was any possibility that he might make another race for a third term. He answered emphatically: "No, sir."

Sarver was fired after the General Assembly defeated bills to appropriate money for prison operations in the next two fiscal years. A number of legislators in the House and Senate were sharply critical of Sarver during debate on the appropriation measures and they called defeat of the bills as a display of legislative dissatisfaction with Sarver.

The former commissioner said that Bumpers knuckled under to legislative pressure in asking for Sarver's dismissal.

No successor to Sarver has been named, but the board is to meet at Cummins Prison Farm May 15 and Chairman John Haley of Little Rock said a new commissioner would be announced at that time.

No Appeal on Court Pen Ruling

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers said Thursday that a further appeal of federal Judge J. Smith Henley's ruling on the state penitentiary might not be in order because the state was moving rapidly to improve the prisons.

The governor said, however, that he would reserve judgment on whether there should be an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court of Henley's decision, upheld Wednesday by the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis. Henley's ruling declared the state prison system unconstitutional.

Bumpers said the progress that has been made in dealing with inmates, the construction program and the operating budget should satisfy the court.

Donna Caponi won the 1969 and 1970 U.S. Open golf championship, each time by one stroke.

Has Idea for Aiding Med. School

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. Robert Harvey of Swiftton made some suggestions Wednesday that might possibly help the financial problems of the University of Arkansas Medical Center.

Gov. Dale Bumpers said Tuesday the center's financial problems were rather "critical," although they did not warrant calling a special session of the legislature now.

There have been reports that the medical center faced financial problems and that only employees directly involved in the "life or death" care of patients would receive pay increase in the next fiscal year. Harvey said the state should look into the possibility of requiring counties and cities to contribute to the cost of indigent patients at the hospital and of accepting more paying patients.

He also suggested the possibility of asking nearby Baptist Medical Center and St. Vincent Infirmary to voluntarily become teaching hospitals, relieving some of the teaching burden at the UA Center.

SHE'S TOO APPREHENSIVE

I am 25 and have been going with my fiance for four years. We've always had a bit of a problem about what he calls my "upright morals." I insist on waiting for marriage, and now it's close, as he is out of graduate school. He says there aren't many 25-year-old virgins left.

That isn't what's bothering me, however. I'm very sensitive to noise. My fiance says he doesn't snore, but how do I know? After we're married we will live in a small apartment, and I couldn't take a snoring man.

So I want him to come and spend a week with me at my apartment, but sleep on the couch. We'll get to know each other better that way, (mentally) and also I'll find out about the snoring.

He says fine, but only if he doesn't sleep on the couch. Inasmuch as we've waited this long, don't you think he could wait another week? I have perfect control and can't see why he's so stubborn. —CINDY

Dear Cindy:

Have you considered spinsterhood? —H.

Why is it that only the rich or the very poor can afford psychiatric help?

My husband and I need a counselor but can't afford $50 a visit. Even group therapy at half price is out of the question. I've tried ministers, but our troubles go deeper than that. We don't have a Family Service Agency or Mental Health Clinic in our town.

Where can salaried people go when they need psychotherapy? —DESPERATE

Dear Desperate:

I wish I had an answer to your question. Perhaps if I print it often enough, areas now lacking in mental health clinics or Family Service Agencies will see the need and meet it.

How many marriages, families, lives could be saved if only expert counseling were available at fees working people could afford! —H.

Dear Helen:

My family says I am wrong to insist they have nothing to do with the harpy who has taken away my husband. What do you say? I have been married for 40 years. We have 12 children, three still at home, 40 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. I am 56 and my husband is 60.

On our 40th anniversary I found out he was seeing a 32-year-old woman who has seven children. He left me seven months ago, saying he had to cheat on me because "I didn't trust him." He pays me support, and I intend to divorce him soon, though I still love him.

He brings this woman to see our married children and, although they don't like her, they allow her into their homes so they can see their father. I say they should insist he visit them alone, or not at all.

Your opinion, please? —TOO TRUSTING TOO LONG

Dear TTTL:

Your children may have the right idea: Kindness and a firm grip on family ties has brought many a wandering older man back to his wife, whereas a vindictive attitude can push him farther away. Chances are good that this July-November romance won't last. You still love your husband, so let him know—through the children—that he can come home.

NEW YORK (AP) — The name of Isadora Duncan has lived on after the 1920s and she has become a sort of legend of glamor, unconventionality and tragedy. Thursday night's "NET Playhouse" biography of the American-born dancer, broadcast on the public broadcasting network, ruthlessly stripped her of glamor and romance.

The film, running well over an hour, showed Isadora first as an idealistic young woman, fiery and headstrong, as she developed what has become modern dance. As age and eccentricity overtook her, she became a shambles.

Producer-director Ken Russell's technique at times was impressionistic and at others it looked like a satire of an old Keystone Cop movie. Somehow the result was a memorable portrait.

Isadora was played by statuesque Vivian Pickles whose strong features and abrupt gestures were hard to take when she was playing Isadora at the peak of her international success. As the dancer grew older, impoverished and involved in sleazy love affairs, Miss Pickles reflected this pathetic, lost soul.

The impetuous dancer went to Russia to live after the revolution. A segment that played like slapstick showed her love affair and marriage to a Russian poet. His outrageous conduct, leading to arrests during an unsuccessful dance tour of the United States, broke up the shaky union. Miss Duncan returned to Russia after being banned in Boston. Soon she was too much for the Soviet Union, which banished her.

Her legendary death on the Riviera in 1927 was re-enacted. She was strangled when her scarf caught in the rear wheel of an open car. But by then she was a hard-faced, cigar-smoking tipsy harpist and the fatal accident was just a brutal incident closing an unhappy life.

Texarkana Edges Hope by 3-2 Score

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

All good things come to an end most of the time, especially when you don't score enough runs.

Such was the case yesterday as the Hope Bobcats dropped a very close 3-2 decision to the Texarkana Arkansas Razorbacks for their first loss of the year after eight straight wins.

Both teams played good defensive ball, with some real good pitching, and although Hope came out on the short end of the score, a few real close plays could have turned the game around.

Arkansas High took a quick 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first inning on two singles, with a walk in between.

Adding runs in the second and fifth innings, the Razorbacks had a fairly good 3-0 lead with first two innings to play.

But the Bobcats began to rally in the sixth inning.

Singles by Bill Moore, Tim White, and Bill Rowland accounted for the first run, and a double by Mike Downs, sent the second run across the plate.

However two quick outs finished the inning.

Lynn Norton absorbed the loss.

His first of the season, while Danny Freeman was the winning pitcher for the Razorbacks.

Next week, the district tournament is slated to begin at Legion Field, on Monday.

Favorites for the tournament will be Texarkana, Nashville, and Hope.

Colonels Undaunted by 2 Losses

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — "Lots of teams have been down 0-2 and come back to win," said Dan Issel, star rookie for the Kentucky Colonels.

The Colonels, losers to the Utah Stars in the first two games of their best-of-seven American Basketball Association playoffs, have their backs to the wall tonight in game No. 3.

What Issel didn't know when he made his optimistic statement Wednesday night following Kentucky's 138-125 loss at Salt Lake City was that only one team in the 25-year history of professional basketball has lost the first two games of a championship series and then come back to win it all.

That happened in 1969 when the Boston Celtics dropped two games to the Los Angeles Lakers and then defeated the Lakers in seven games for the National Basketball Association title.

The Colonels know why they lost the first two games.

"It's been two things," said Issel, who scored 67 points in the two losses. "Team defense and the fact that we've probably thrown the ball away more times in these two than we did in any other two-game series in the playoffs."

Issel and Utah center Zelmo Beaty have neutralized each other offensively thus far in the series, with Beaty totaling 66 points. However, the veteran pivotman of the Stars has been more effective than Issel in rebounding and starting the fast break.

Stars' coach Bill Sharman, a former Celtic teammate of Colonels coach Frank Ramsey, said the Issel-Beaty battle "is a fantastic matchup."

It reminds me of the matches between Wilt Chamberlain and Bill Russell," he said.

While Issel and guard Darel Carrier 61 points have played well against Utah, the other Colonels starters have been less than spectacular.

Utah, meanwhile, has hit a hard 53.4 per cent of its shots in the victories and out-rebounded the Colonels in both games.

The Colonels know they have to tonight and Saturday afternoon here to have a shot at the championship. Sharman knows what he'd like.

Canonero Dreams of Triple Crown

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — Trainer Juan Arias watched intently at Stall 32 in the Pimlico stakes barn as groom Juan Quintero wrapped the legs of Kentucky Derby winner Canonero II.

Arias pulled the colt's tail aside, so it wouldn't be tangled in the wrapping, and muttered softly in Spanish.

"He said, 'Triple Crown,'" reported Dr. Jose Alemanar, a friend of owner Edgar Calbett who acts as interpreter around the stable area for Arias, who speaks no English.

Canonero II still must be considered a long shot possibility to win racing's Triple Crown, but after the surprising triumph in last week's Kentucky Derby, he is the only member of the 1971 crop of 3-year-olds with a chance.

Arias, celebrating his 32nd birthday, Almenar and Quintero were three happy Venezuelans as they gazed admiringly at Canonero II following his workout Thursday.

"The Express Train From Osaka," Quintero said as he went about his tasks. Almenar explained that's what American jockey Bill Shoemaker had called Canonero II after competing against him at Del Mar last year.

Canonero II didn't win the race, but Shoemaker was impressed by the way he sped toward the finish line.

That's how he won the Derby, coming from far off the pace in the 20-horse field to win by a widening 3¼ lengths in the 1¼ mile classic.

"If the field is the same for the Preakness," Arias said, "there's no question that Canonero will win."

Arias said he had heard of Executioner, the Flamingo winner who didn't start in the Derby, but noted that his colt had beaten a horse which had beaten Executioner elsewhere.

Canonero II, a Kentucky-bred, was sold as yearling at Kenneland for $1,200 and then was included in a three-horse package which Calbett purchased for $60,000.

Dave McNally Leads Orioles to Twin-Win

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dave McNally's wife told a rare joke but it was business as usual for her husband Thursday evening.

The result was a slick four-hitter for the Baltimore left-hander, who is gunning for a fourth consecutive 20-victory season as the Orioles swept a two-night twinbill from the California Angels by 3-1 scores.

The triumph gave McNally a 5-1 mark and it was his fifth complete game of the young season.

In the nightcap right-hander Pat Dobson evened his record at 2-2, scattering nine hits and striking out 10 Angels as the Orioles crept to within one-half game of East Division leader Boston.

"When I was leaving the house today, my wife said, 'pretend you're Vida Blue.' She usually doesn't make wise-cracks like that," said McNally.

Mrs. McNally was referring to the young Oakland A's south-paw who has jumped off to a 7-1 record this season.

In other American League action, Minnesota topped the New York Yankees 5-3 and Boston routed Chicago 10-1.

In the National League, Houston tripped Montreal 5-2 and Los Angeles trimmed Cincinnati 5-2.

The Chicago at New York Mets and St. Louis at Philadelphia games were called by rain.

McNally got all the support he needed in the fifth inning when run-scoring singles by Brooks Robinson and Dave Johnson snapped a 1-1 tie. The only run the red-headed lefty gave up was in the fifth on doubles by Tony Conigliaro and Ken McMullen.

Dobson was staked to a 1-0 edge in the opening inning of the second game on Frank Robinson's RBI single and Baltimore made it 3-0 in the fifth on Dobson's run-scoring single and a sacrifice fly by Elrod Hendricks.

The 6-foot-3 right-hander had a three-hit shutout until McMullen homered in the eighth. Although rapped for five other hits in the last two innings, the Angels failed to score.

Rookie Steve Braun bounced a two-out, two-run infield single in the eighth inning, giving the Twins their victory over the Yankees and a three-game sweep of the series.

Braun's hit off Mel Stottlemyre, 2-1, was grabbed by Horace Clarke, but the second baseman couldn't make a play as Cesar Tovar and Tony Oliva scored. Earlier Tovar had driven in the tying run with a single.

The Red Sox took advantage of six Chicago errors and left-hander Gary Peters tamed the White Sox on seven hits.

Rico Petrocelli and Luis Aparicio drove in two runs apiece for the Red Sox while George Scott cracked a solo home run for the winners.

Larry Dierker captured his fifth straight victory without a loss but the right-hander needed eighth inning relief help in the Astros victory.

The Astros won the game in the opening inning, scoring three runs off loser Steve Renko, 3-1. A walk and singles by Roger Metzger, Jim Wynn and Jesus Alou got in two runs and another scored on John Bate-man's throwing error.

The Dodgers jumped on lefty Jim Merritt, 0-3, and reliever Tony Cloninger for four runs on five hits in the third inning and rolled to their victory.

Wes Parker, Jim Lefebvre and Billy Grabarkewitz had run-scoring hits in the inning and winner Claude Osteen, 3-2, added a sacrifice fly.

Lefebvre later cracked a solo homer in backing Osteen while Johnny Bench slammed his 10th of the year, a two-run shot in the eighth for the Reds.

Trevino Gets Bad Advice From Caddy

DALLAS (AP) — Jack Nicklaus believes Lee Trevino is one of the best shotmakers in golf, but the fiery Mexican says it doesn't do any good if your caddy keeps feeding you the wrong yardage.

Trevino was particularly miffed at his caddy Thursday in the opening round of the Byron Nelson Golf Classic in which he fired a roller-coaster two-under par 68, placing the Dallas native two blows behind leader Jerry McGee.

"My caddy, who has been with me two and one-half years, has been making too many mistakes," Trevino said. "It's getting where I have to walk the yardage off."

"To make up for mistakes, he's going to have to walk the whole course tonight."

Trevino said his caddy, Neal Walker, told him it was 195 yards to the pin on his second shot on the 432-yard Par four No. 5.

"It turned out to be only 175 yards," Trevino said. "There's too much indecision out there. He's going to have to get him an assistant or something."

Trevino, the local favorite who has never won here, was in a group with five others at 68 on the wind-swept, 7,031-yard Preston Trail Golf Course—Ted Hayes, Bob Stone, John Schlee, Ed Sneed and Gay Brewer.

Nicklaus was tied at 69 with Frank Beard, Masters king Charles Coody, Bob Charles, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Hugh Royer, Gene Littler and Homero Blancas. Arnold Palmer was in a group of 11 others at even par 70.

McGee is a 27-year-old five-year tour veteran who has never won a tournament. He made $22,000 last year and has pocketed over $26,000 this season, playing without an exemption. His immediate goal is to finish in the top 60 in 1971 so he won't have to go through the qualifying pains next year.

Withers Vital Warmup for Preakness

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer

Good Behavior, a triple stakes winner pointing for the Belmont, and several Preakness candidates promise to make Saturday's Withers much more than just a good race that falls between the Kentucky Derby and Preakness.

Owner Neil Hellman and trainer John Campo have said that Good Behavior, the non-Derby eligible who has won the Swift, Gotham and Wood Memorial, will not run in the May 15 Preakness but will wait for the June 5 Belmont Stakes.

But the connections of several colts in the expected field of nine 3-year-olds for the one mile, $50,000-added Withers at Aqueduct are thinking about taking on Kentucky Derby winner Canonero II and some other Derby colts in the Preakness.

The Preakness hopefuls are Kosgrove Stable's Bold Reasoning, unbeaten in four career starts; Christiana Stable's Salem, winner of both 1971 starts; Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Your Excellency, a full brother to 1970 Preakness winner Personality; John M. Olin's Northfields, the Louisiana Derby winner; Oliver Goldswinth's Leematt, and George D. Widener's Hardy Life.

Other Withers probables are Murray Garren's Cocky Raider and Tartan Stable's Highbinder.

Two other national features Saturday will be the $60,000-added Los Angeles Handicap at Hollywood Park, the nation's richest sprint race for handicap horses, and the $50,000-added Dixie Handicap over 1¼ miles on the grass at Pimlico.

2 Up, Hawks Head for Montreal

By JOE MOOSHIL

Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Having carved a commanding two-game lead on their home ice, the Chicago Black Hawks now head for Montreal hoping to further advance the drive towards their first Stanley Cup championship in 10 years.

Aided by two unassisted goals by utility man Lou Angotti in the third period Thursday night, the Black Hawks soared to a 5-3 victory over the Montreal Canadiens for the second straight triumph in their best-of-seven playoff for the coveted cup.

The Canadiens could only take heart in that returning to home ice they can entertain hopes of getting back into the series.

"They've won two in their building," said Montreal Coach A MacNeil. "Now it's only fair that we win two in ours. We've got three of the next four at home."

The series continues at Montreal Sunday afternoon and Tuesday night. If a fifth game is needed it will be in Chicago Thursday. If the series goes the full seven games, four will be played in Chicago because the Hawks finished first in the Western Division while Montreal was third in the powerful Eastern Division.

Angotti, who set up Bobby Hull's winning goal in the seventh and final game of the semifinal series against the New York Rangers by winning a face off from Walt Tkaczuk, had an even greater game Thursday.

Twice his unassisted goals gave the Hawks two-goal leads in the final period and, almost as important, he set up a screen for Chico Maki's goal which lifted Chicago into a 2-2 tie in the second period.

Montreal, outplaying the Hawks in the early going, had taken a 2-1 lead on goals by

The Canadiens were still cruising when suddenly the Hawks scored on a long shot by Maki to climb into a 2-2 tie. Less than two minutes later Jim Pappin scored and the Canadiens never recovered.

"I was nervous in that first period," said Hawk Coach Bill Reay. "The Canadiens played their best hockey in that period. But our guys got progressively better and that tying goal really gave us a lift."

Angotti said he knew he cleared the puck from J. Tremblay when he checked the Canadiens' defenseman, "But when I got control of the puck, I thought I was too close to Kenney Dryden. He came out and when I made a move to the right, he didn't move so I shot. Usually I fall on my face or plays like that."

There was some question if paper cup which had been thrown on the ice might have had something to do with Angotti's clinching goal but Dryden dismissed the idea.

"I don't think it was a factor," said Dryden. "It was there and the goal scored right afterwards. Tie the two together if you want. Angotti surprised me."

Tremblay, who also had cleared the puck to the board when it bounded onto Angotti's stick for his first goal which gave the Hawks a 4-2 lead, said he wasn't about to brood.

Number of Night Games Increasing

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The plans of Commissioner Bowie Kuhn to have Baseball play more of its important games at night are becoming a reality.

One of the World Series games this fall has been scheduled for under the lights. Next year, three midweek games in the classic will be played at night.

This was announced jointly Thursday by Kuhn and the National Broadcasting system with the disclosure that NBC's exclusive rights for the World Series has been extended four years through the 1975 season.

This includes radio coverage of the series as well as TV rights to the All-Star games, the American and National League championship games, playoffs and Games of the Week.

Terms of the contract were not disclosed, but were believed to be in excess of the $52 million NBC paid for its expiring current three-year contract.

There was little comment from the clubs or players.

Monzon Vs. Benvenuti Saturday

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Carlos Monzon of Argentina is supremely confident of again beating Nino Benvenuti of Italy in their world middleweight title fight Saturday night.

It will be Monzon's first defense of the title he took from Nino last November when he knocked out Benvenuti in the 11th round.

"I'm stronger than Benvenuti," Monzon said after his last hard workout Thursday. "This time I know him and how he fights and I have no fears."

The fight will be held outdoors in the Louis II Stadium and will be televised live in the United States via satellite by ABC 5-6:30 p.m., EDT.

New Manager for St. Louis Hockey Team

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A new coach, general manager and assistant general manager were expected to be announced today by the St. Louis Blues of the National Hockey League.

It was reported Thursday the club would name former Detroit Red Wings Coach Sid Abel to replace Scotty Bowman as coach.

Bowman resigned about a week ago in a power struggle involving Blues' officials.

Blues' Vice President Lynn Patrick would be named general manager and defenseman Al Arbour would become Patrick's assistant, reports said.

Blues management, however, had no comment on the possible changes.

Max Cohen Back in Paris Disillusioned on U.S. Money Hunt

By JOHN VINOCUR
PARIS (AP) — Max the middleweight, who said he packed enough underwear for five months of journeying through the United States, is back home again, his great American money hunt lasting exactly three weeks.

His wife is happy, his buddies in the restaurants off Rue Faubourg Montmartre are happy, but Max Cohen? Max is what the French newspapers call "desabuse"—disillusioned. He was the last of the Jewish prizefighters, the only Cohen who ever got a gold medal from Nasser at the Pan-Arab Games, and Nobody in all that rich fat country was lining up to make Max a millionaire.

"Every morning," Cohen said, describing his stay in Seattle, Wash. "I would get up, go to the window, open it wide and breathe in the dollars. That's all I got: a sniff."

Cohen said he received a number of offers for other bouts after winning a clear decision over Fraser Scott, but that he didn't think much of them.

"They were offering me $3,000-$4,000 to go beat my head against some guy in Chicago. I get more than that, double that, in Paris, where they give me a percentage of the house. If they boxed me in New York and gave me a percentage, they'd have to turn over title to a couple of blocks of Fifth Avenue to me."

"So instead I boxed in Seattle and a nice guy in the clothing business named Sam Heller gave me a suit. But it didn't quite fit and I didn't get rich. Here I am."

Max, who started life in a Casablanca ghetto 30 years ago as Nessim Cohen has acquired French nationality, and with it a kind of neo-French colonialist view of how life fails to function correctly anywhere else.

"You know," Max said, "You couldn't get vegetables in Seattle, no vegetables at all. It's hard to believe, isn't it," he told an American friend. "And no fruit either, would you believe that? We only started eating correctly when we found a French restaurant after the fight."

All this got Max down. Not enough noise in the streets. Everyone going home early. And everyone speaking English, which he understands considerably less than Arabic.

"I'll tell you something," he said. "I'd go back right away tomorrow if the money is right. Think of me and Emile Griffith in Madison Square Garden in June maybe. I keep telling myself: You've got to get used to the United States, Max. You've got to be ready for some differences."

"Ok, I'm not so disillusioned when I talk to myself like that. Honest, I'd go back tomorrow. But the money should be right, shouldn't it? That's some rich country, isn't it?"

Three Southwest Conference stars head a list of six players signing Thursday to play in the Coaches All-America football game scheduled June 26 in Texas Tech's Jones Stadium here.

Signing in from the SWC champion Texas Longhorns were defensive end Bill Atessis and offensive tackle Bobby Wuensch. Representing the Arkansas Razorbacks will be their star receiver Chuck Dicus.

Also signing contracts were Clarence Scott, defensive back from Kansas State, Bob Jacobs, kicker from the University of Wyoming, and Joe Profit, running back from Northeast Louisiana.

Atessis, Wuensch, Dicus, Scott and Jacobs, will play for Coach Bob Devaney's West team. Profit will play for Coach Charley McClendon's East team. Profit will join quarterback Joe Theismann of Notre Dame in the East backfield. Theismann was announced as a player earlier this year.

More than 42,000 attends the first game held in Lubbock last June.

ABA and NBA Huddle Again on Merger

NEW YORK (AP) — The rival American and National Basketball associations huddle in separate sessions today for the second day to consider the possibility of a merger.

The NBA met for seven hours and the ABA, four Thursday at mid-town hotels in serious consideration of joining forces.

It's the latest attempt to end the astronomical bidding war for college players and inter-league raiding of stars.

"If something is not done at this meeting, the war will return," said Charles Cavagnaro, general manager of the Memphis Pros of the ABA. "All the owners in the ABA feel this way. We're tired of having our hats in our hands."

"This is the third meeting we have had in conjunction with the NBA—and if we can't get together now, then we'll start fighting again."

Cavagnaro warned "things will be worse than before" if the issue is not settled this week in New York.

A spokesman for the ABA said there was a possibility of some kind of announcement today, but would not specify. An NBA spokesman said league owners were taking a hard look at merger possibilities.

While the younger ABA has made it clear it wants a merger, the long-established NBA has thus far been unable to get the required 13 votes of its 17 members.

Broyles Praises Hog Passing

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks worked on passing during a two-hour practice here Thursday afternoon.

Coach Frank Broyles termed the drill "the best we have ever seen."

"It was the best (quarterbacks) Joe Ferguson and Walter Nelson have thrown," Broyles said. "The receivers were also making outstanding receptions."

The Porkers closed the practice with a 10-minute goal-line scrimmage.

Hits Almost 180 on Old 'Indy' Track

By DALE BURGESS
Associated Press Sports Writer
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — "I was trying very hard," said Mark Donohue, after bringing an 180-mile-an-hour lap almost in sight at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, a track built in 1910 for a speed of 75 m.p.h. He had to be.

Donohue was caught on the elec timer at 177.901 m.p.h. Thursday in his new Mark 16 McLaren Ford.

Only speeds recorded in qualifications or the 500-mile race May 29 will be official so Joe Leonard's 1968 qualifying mark of 171.953, with a turbine engine, still stands. It almost certainly is due for retirement May 15, first day of the trials.

Leonard was the first driver to tour the Speedway over 1970. The record was only 130.757, set by Jimmy Snyder in 1939, when the Speedway was locked up for World War II. It didn't reach 140 until the late Jack McGrath did 141.287 in 1954.

Parnelli Jones broke the 150 barrier in 1962 with a qualifying run at 150.729. The next two 10-mile leaps were made by A.J. Foyt Jr. at 161.058 in 1965 and by Leonard and his 170-plus.

Donohue's commitment to race a Javelin in the Trans-American Saturday at Lime Rock, Conn., helped prod him to early all-out practice runs at the Speedway, he said.

He added that he expected some of the late arrivals such as Foyt to challenge his speed in a few days.

Of 77 cars entered, 37 are Offys, 33 are Fords and the rest have an assortment of power plants including a turbocharged Chevrolet, a turbocharged Rambler and a small Allison.

SAME FLOOD

Curt Flood, who endured a year layoff from baseball before returning this season with the Washington Senators, said the layoff hadn't affected his attitude at all: "I'm just the same poor little colored boy—nothing's changed," he said.

YOUTH BEAT

Old Mann Learns Some New Tricks By ERNESTINE GUGLIELMO

THE MAZE MESSAGE—We're still sending out your maze posters even though we've revealed the answer to be—drum roll—Youthbeat. (What else?) The supply's dwindling rapidly and those of you who got left out of this free-bee, wait for our next ingenious contest or our next give-away-prizes mood.

THE NEW MANN—Jazz? That was something real rock people didn't buy. But now the times are changing. And rock is going along with the changes by expanding, reaching out to include country, blues and even jazz. If you haven't been turned on to the flute of Herbie Mann at least once, you'd better get with it. Herbie's "Memphis Underground" and "Memphis Two Step" have to be considered classics. These albums are still jazz music, but with a definite rock sound. So get ready when Herbie releases his next album on his own label, Embryo, with Air, a good solid rock group, as backup and Sonny Sharrock, winner of last year's Downbeat Poll, adding his special touch as one of the top jazz guitarists. They all played together at the Village Gate and definitely were something else. Herbie's flute goes from being deeply moving to highly frenzied like many of the hard rock singers. Don't miss out on hearing the new Mann at his best.

PICTURE PERFECTION—School papers as well as some very interesting underground stuff have been coming in from all over the place. To help your publications, Kodak has a new booklet designed to help the amateur photographer get more professional results. It's called "Student Pictures for School Publications" and offers basic tips and techniques for better shots. The 56-page booklet can be obtained from local photo retailers or directly from Eastman Kodak Co., Dept. 454, Rochester, N.Y. 14650. We'd enjoy seeing the photos that come out of this and, of course, we'll reward the most creative of bizarre submissions with a little something or other.

BEST BET—Carole King was on the rock scene about a decade or so ago when artists sang the songs that others wrote. Carole teamed with Gerry Goffin to write some of the all-time favorite duos like "Will You Still Love Me Tomorrow" by the Shirelles, "Up on the Roof" by the Drifters and "Take Good Care of My Baby" by Bobby Vee. Well, Carole King is now recording the songs she writes. Her second album on Ode 70 "Tapestry" puts all her talents together to make a sure winner. The high points of the album are reached with "So Far Away" and "You've Got a Friend." Look out for Carole, she'll be coming on strong.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration advised the public today to stop eating swordfish because 95 per cent of all samples examined were contaminated with poisonous mercury. Government officials acknowledged the virtually unprecedented warning would probably destroy the swordfish industry. It is "particularly important" that children and women of child-bearing age refrain from consumption of the seafood, the FDA said following completion of a three-month government testing program for mercury in swordfish. A group of American and Canadian medical experts endorsed its findings. "Despite extensive recalls by major distribution chains, despite FDA seizures totalling 832,000 pounds, and despite overall cooperation of swordfish brokers in withholding up to 4 million pounds from the market, the agency is still finding swordfish available to the public at or over the guideline," said FDA Chief Charles C. Edwards.

On this basis and in view of full evaluation of test data by FDA and by outside experts, the FDA has no choice but to recommend at this time that the public not eat swordfish," Edwards said in a statement. Approximately 26 million pounds of the fish was consumed by Americans last year, with all but 4 million pounds imported from Japan and Canada. The remainder is caught in coastal waters off the Northeast and California. The Small Business Administration last week declared swordfish ship owners, processors and distributors eligible for economic disaster loans. The FDA said limited amounts of swordfish might return to stores if the industry works out an "effective program to certify for marketing the 5 to 8 per cent of each catch likely to meet mercury guidelines."

about My MOTHER

Most all other things come by twos, threes, or even by dozens. See the roses, the stars, the sunsets.

Ah, there's brothers and sisters, too, and uncles and aunts and cousins a plenty. But in all the whole big world there's just one mother. There's much more about my mother and good it all must be. In fact she's as good as goodness is, and that's enough for me. Her words are kind, her faith is strong, and her hope as high as the highest tree. You can see from here that she is a dear, — she means everything to me. Not one single emotion comes nearer the divine than my mother's love for me. She is the soaring cloud of radiant rapture that lifts me to new attempts and the strength I need to see me through. I'm taking my mother to church this Mother's Day --- what about you???

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

Volunteer Army Is Debated

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is opening consideration of the Nixon administration's volunteer-army bill which is expected to be the vehicle for the year's major debate on U.S. policy in Southeast Asia.

Although groundwork was to begin today, serious debate on the House-passed bill extending the draft another two years won't start until next week. But it may last until well into June.

The reason: Sens. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., and George S. McGovern, D-S.D., have decided tentatively to bring up their proposal to cut off funds for all U.S. troops in Southeast Asia by Dec. 31. They want to attach their resolution to the draft bill.

The current draft law expires June 30, meaning Nixon administration backers who oppose the McGovern-Hatfield amendment would have little time for delaying tactics. A slowdown on the amendment might allow the draft authority to expire.

The strategy of withdrawing war funds and extending the draft in the same bill has another advantage. Senate approval would virtually force the House to take a stand on withdrawing funding for the war.

The bill extending the draft two years was passed by the House by a 293-99 vote April 1, after an attempt to limit the extension to one year failed by two votes.

The same bill provides $2.7 billion—triple what President Nixon had asked—for incentives to voluntary enlistment. The President has set a goal of attracting enough volunteers to end the draft by June 30, 1973.

The draft package allows the president to abolish student deferments and requires conscientious objectors to substitute three years of civilian service for military work. Present law requires two years' service.

If McGovern and Hatfield stick with their current plan, their proposal probably would be delayed until the Senate works its way through a series of other amendments to the draft measure.

'Happy Birthday' for Willie

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — About 750 people sang "Happy Birthday" to 40-year-old Willie Mays Thursday night.

Forty torch-bearing waiters preceded a gigantic birthday cake into the grand ballroom of the Fairmont Hotel at the affair sponsored by the local chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Songstress Theresa Graves led the singing of "Happy Birthday" for the San Francisco Giants' center fielder, who broke into the major leagues with the New York Giants 20 years ago and has hit 633 home runs since.

The program included a recording of the late Russ Hodges, the Giants' broadcaster for many years, describing Mays' home run No. 501.

Baseball dignitaries attending the party included Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, National League President Charles Feeney and Giants owner Horace Stoneham.

Bulls and Condors in Player Fight

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Condors and the Chicago Bulls are still haggling over which basketball team is the rightful owner of Howard Porter, but a Condors official says the issue will be settled soon.

Porter's status will be revealed shortly, said Mark Binstein, operations manager of the American Basketball Association Condors on a stopover here Thursday between trips to New York.

A wrong has been done by three people in the case—Porter, the Chicago Bulls and Porter's attorney, Binstein said.

But Binstein said the Condors are more interested in obtaining a "body" than money from

Mrs. Johnston Discusses Marketing

Home economists discuss current food marketing information with Mrs. Mescal Johnston, Arkansas Extension Food Marketing Specialist, as they prepare for Young Homemakers Food Short Course "Stretch Your Food Dollar" to be held May 10, 17, 20, 24, from 7:00-9:00 p.m. for Hempstead County Young Homemakers 18-35 years old. Pictured left to right Dolores McBride, Extension Home Economist-Youth Nutrition; Mrs. Regina Tullis, Spring Hill Home Economics Instructor; Mescal Johnston, Specialist; Mrs. Helen Clark, Hope High Home Economics Instructor; Mrs. Alphonso Denham, Associate Extension Home Economist.

This is a special attempt to reach young homemakers with up-to-date food marketing ideas to help them economize time and money and buy better food for the same money.

Mrs. Johnston presents spot announcements over television about food buying that perhaps local homemakers have seen and heard. Miss McBride says leaflets mentioned by the specialist are available at the County Extension Office and will also be used as a part of the short course beginning May 10.

Young homemakers may pre-register for the short course by calling 777-5771.

Money Is Magic Word in Tennis

ROME (AP) — There is still fire left in the aging but crafty tennis ace like Rod Laver, Roy Emerson and others. The reason is money.

Some years back they used to display their finesse for the fun of it. Now they play for cash and keeps.

Laver, at 33 the grand old man of the left-handed spin and smash, has earned $714,000 since turning pro in 1962. Last year he made $200,000 in the tennis circuit that lives off suitcases and hotels.

Emerson, now 36, netted about $100,000 in 1970.

If giant-killers don't get to them, both veterans stand a chance of adding the $10,000 top prize in the Italian Open this year.

Laver spun his way to the quarter-finals Thursday with an easy 6-4, 6-1 triumph over Ezio de Matteo, Italy's promising 21-year-old Davis cupper.

Emerson erased a 2-6 first set deficit and took the next two 6-4, 6-3 in winning over Nikola Pilić of Yugoslavia.

Neither are top-seeded—"Rocket" Laver is ranked fourth and Emerson seventh—since that honor belongs to John Newcombe, an Australian

Travs' Pitcher Hits to Win

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Don't ever tell Steve Evans pitchers can't hit.

Evans cracked a three-run homer Thursday night and pitched the Arkansas Travelers to a 6-3 Dixie Association victory over Shreveport.

The victory propelled the Travelers into the lead in the Dixie Central Division by a half game over Memphis. Memphis fell 7-3 to Birmingham.

Arkansas collected all its runs by the homer route. Besides the shot by Evans, Tom Heintzelman hit two four-baggers and Skip Jutze blasted a solo shot. All six of the runs were scored off loser Tony Barrientos.

In other Dixie Association action, Charlotte downed Columbus 3-2, Montgomery nicked Jacksonville 4-3, San Antonio defeated Albuquerque 10-6 and rain postponed the Dallas-Fort Worth at Amarillo and Savannah at Asheville games.

The National Basketball Association. "We are demanding Porter or a player of his equal ability and worth," he said.

The Bulls signed the former Villanova star to a contract after he was the No. 1 draft pick of the condors.

ABA and NBA representatives are currently discussing the possibility of a merger in New York and defending Wimbledon title.

But Newcombe, who barely got by unheralded Italian Vincenzo Franchitti in his first outing, faces Jan Kodes, an agile Czech whose victims in this tourney include Australian greats Fred Stolle and Tony Roche.

Newcombe, teamed with Roche, also has a good chance to fatten his earnings in doubles. They are ranked first in the doubles and already boast four Wimbledon doubles titles to their credit.

Barber Leads Byron Nelson Tourney

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Miller Barber of Texarkana, Tex., had a one-over-par 71 Thursday in the first round of the $125,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic at Dallas, Tex.

Richard Crawford of Little Rock, Ark., had a 72 and R. H. Sikes of Springdale, Ark., had a first-round score of 73.

Jerry McGehee was the first-round leader with a 66.

No Change in Hospitalized Steinmark

HOUSTON (AP) — A hospital spokesman said today there was no change in the critical condition of Fred Steinmark, former University of Texas football player Steinmark, whose cancerous left leg was removed Dec. 12, 1969, re-entered M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute April 20.

Caravan to Leave on Racial Note

MARIANNA, Ark. (AP) — The 300 long-haired people who arrived in Arkansas Tuesday night seeking a place to settle have decided not to stay in the state.

The group has been traveling in a caravan of about 65 buses through Tennessee, Kentucky and Arkansas in search of a suitable place to begin farming.

The group had originally planned to settle on a 600-acre farm near Nashville, Tenn., but according to Stephen Gaskin, the group's leader, the land was too rocky to cultivate.

Gaskin said the decision to leave Arkansas was made because of racial slurs toward black visitors to the group's camp near here.

According to Gaskin, Lee County Sheriff S. C. Langston had turned away black visitors to their camp in St. Francis National Forest.

The caravan originated in the Haight-Asbury district of San Francisco and picked up additional members as the group traveled across the country.

Sam Sneed Awaits Bid for U.S. Open

NEW YORK (AP) — The postman always rang twice for Slammin' Sammy Sneed but not at all this year.

"I'm still waiting for an application form for the U.S. Open," says the golfing great in explaining why his name is not in the field of the prestigious tourney.

Sneed, in a telephone interview Thursday night from his Hot Springs, West Va., farm, said there was no truth to reports that he had given up chasing the elusive title.

"I'd like to be in this year more than ever," said the 59-year-old veteran, who has been denied the one major title in his illustrious career. "I want it this year—because, well, because maybe it'll be the last year for me."

The U.S. Golf Association announced Thursday that a record field of 4,335 filed for the 71st championship June 17-

Family Practice to Be Funded

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers said Thursday he planned to ask the Commission on Coordination of Higher Educational Finance to use $150,000 of its legislative appropriation to create a family practice division at the University of Arkansas Medical Center.

Bumpers also said he was considering the use of $100,000 from his emergency fund to establish a scholarship program at the center for medical students who want to go into rural practice.

The Arkansas Legislature authorized the establishment of the scholarship program and the creation of the family practice division but it was discovered recently that the Medical Center did not have the money to fund them. Both are key parts to Bumpers' program to improve medical services in rural areas.

It has also been reported that the Medical Center lacks money to provide salary increases in the next fiscal year for employees who are not directly involved in the "life-or-death" care of patients.

The governor said that "when and if the legislature meets in special session" it could appropriate enough money to provide the salary increases and make them retroactive to the date other employees receive them.

Bumpers said there is no need for a special session at this time, but he has said the financial problems at the Medical Center would affect his decision on whether to call one as other problems accumulate.

Bumpers said he was asking Dr. Max Milam, director of the state Administration Department, to check the legality of appropriating $100,000 from the governor's emergency fund in this fiscal year to establish the scholarship program. His legislative program had called for $150,000 in the next fiscal year and $200,000 in the following year for scholarships.

The governor said it had been his information that the Medical Center appropriation was sufficient to fund the scholarship program and open the family practice division. He said the legislature would have assumed the responsibility toward the Medical Center if the General Assembly had been aware that the appropriation was not enough.

He said he was not prepared to say who was at fault because the facility's appropriation is not sufficient, but he said there apparently had been a "breakdown in communications and even a credibility gap" between the Medical Center and the legislature.

Bumpers said a number of legislators were upset because all Medical Center employees would not receive raises.

Industry Headed for Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dan Roebuck, executive director of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, said Wednesday that he expected several major industries to announce plans to locate in the state in the very near future. He did not reveal the names of the companies.

Nolan Fleming, director of the agency's Consulting Division, said, though, that one of the expected plants would be a $25 million facility.

Roebuck reported that 45 new plants had been built in Arkansas and 47 industries had expanded their plants during the first 10 months of the current fiscal year. He said this construction had created 5,435 new jobs and represented a total investment of $47,938,000.

JESUS' SLANG

NEW YORK (AP) — What exactly did Jesus mean when he said things like "pluck out your eye" or "blessed are the poor in spirit"? The answer, according to Biblical scholar George Lamsa in a Doubleday book, "More Light on the Gospel," is that Jesus was using idiomatic expressions still common in the Near East "which should be taken no more literally than the American statement, 'He blew his top.'"

Reagan Denounces Press

By BILL STALL

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has accused newsmen of an invasion of privacy in reporting that he did not pay a state personal income tax this year. And he says whoever gave them the tax information broke the law.

"Aren't you guys ashamed enough?" the Republican governor snapped Wednesday when reporters asked whether he paid any federal income tax this past year. He told the newsmen it was none of their business and said:

"Frankly, I think the Capitol press corps yesterday demeaned itself a little bit by engaging in an invasion of privacy. They asked a question they already had the answer to."

Reagan said Tuesday he couldn't remember if he had to pay state income tax. His office later issued a statement saying he had not paid a tax because business losses offset his taxable income.

The source of the confidential tax information remains unknown. The report was first broadcast on the Sacramento State College radio station, KERS. Correspondent Rosemary King said she picked up the unverified report in Capitol hallways.

Reagan accused newsmen of known that someone illegally provided the information from the Franchise Tax Board.

The board's George Nelson said a check of the files showed that Reagan's returns had not been taken. "We have no reason to believe it came from here," he said. But he noted that "a lot of people" aid in processing the 5.5 million to 6 million returns received in April.

Reagan has always insisted that his personal wealth and his investments are his own business so long as there is no conflict of interest with his public position.
